DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-28 have been examined.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –
(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-4, 12, 13, 15-18, 26, and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Woods (hereinafter "Woods") (U.S. Patent Number 5724571).

As per claim 1, Woods teaches

"a method, comprising:

defining target rules for detection of target hits in an article, including defining target article region" (Column 4 Lines 47-38, i.e., windows onto a target document – i.e., regions in a document and Column 5 Lines 7-14 );

"defining extraction rules based on the target rules for the extraction of extracts from the article, including an extraction article region" (Column 5 Line 66 through Column 7 Line 57, i.e. Basic Method: Ranking and Penalty Procedures, Procedure 1, Procedure 2, Procedure 2, Procedure 3, Procedure 4, Procedure 5, Procedure 6, Procedure 7, Procedure 8, Procedure 9, and so on. );

Art Unit: 2162

“applying target rules to each target article region of the article to determine target hits” (Column 4 Lines 47-38, i.e., windows onto a target document – i.e., regions in a document and Column 5 Lines 7-14); and

“applying extraction rules to detect at least one extract from the article based on the determined target hit” (Woods, Column 5 Line 66 through Column 7 Line 57).

As per claim 2, Woods teaches the limitation:

“ wherein a plurality of target hits are detected and a plurality of extracts are extracted” (Column 4, Lines 38-47).

As per claim 3, Woods is directed to the limitation:

“further comprising sorting the extracts based on the extraction rules” (Column 5 Line 66 through Column 7 Line 57).

As per claim 4, Woods discloses the limitation:

“further comprising extracting at least one extract from the article based on the determined target hit” (Column 5 Line 66 through Column 7 Line 57).

Claims 15-18 are rejected on the same basis as claims 1-4 respectively.

As per claim 12, Woods teaches the limitation:

“wherein the target article region is an article, a sentence or a term” (Column 4 Lines 48-62 and Column 7 Lines 13-25).

Claim 26 is rejected on the same basis as claim 12.

As per claim 13, Woods teaches the limitation:

“wherein the extraction article region is a article, a sentence or a term” (Column 4 Lines 48-62 and Column 7 Lines 13-25).

Claim 27 is rejected on the same basis as claim 13.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

5. Claim 5, 6, 19, and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Woods in view of Talib et al. (hereinafter "Talib") (U.S. Patent Application Publication Number 2001/0049674).

Referring claims 5, Woods does not explicitly teach the limitation: "wherein the target rules further comprise a target definition and a target score formula".

Talib teaches the limitation: "wherein the target rules further comprise a target definition and a target score formula" (Paragraphs 0170-0171).

At the time the invention was made, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to add the feature of employing a target score formula as taught by Talib to the method of Woods so that, in the resultant method, the target rules would further comprise a target definition and a target score formula. One would have been motivated to do so in order to provide users with a multiple-taxonomy, multiple category search engine that allows users to search for records (Talib, Paragraph 0043).

Referring to claim 6, Talib teaches the limitation:

"wherein applying the target rules comprises, using the target score formula to detect target hits" (Talib, Paragraph 0043).

Claims 19 and 20 are rejected on the same basis as claims 5 and 6 respectively.

Art Unit: 2162

6. Claim 7 and 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Woods in view of Talib and further in view of Fernley et al. (hereinafter "Fernley") (U.S. Patent Application Publication Number 2002/0174101).

Referring to claim 7, Woods in view of Talib teaches the limitation "the target definition comprises a concept set" (Woods, Column 5 Lines 7-51). Woods in view of Talib does not explicitly disclose the limitation: "a gist."

Fernley teaches the limitation "a gist" (Paragraph 101).

At the time the invention was made, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to add the feature of generating a gist of a document as taught by Fernley to the method of Woods in view of Talib so that, in the resultant method, the target definition comprises a concept set or a gist or both. One would have been motivated to do so in order to provide a sufficiently specific method of document retrieval, particularly when applied to a set of large documents with broad semantic content (Fernley, Paragraph 0012).

Claim 21 is rejected on the same basis as claim 7.

7. Claim 8-11, 14, 22-25, and 28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Woods in view of Talib and further in view of Fernley and further in view of Sacco (hereinafter "Sacco") (U.S. Patent Number 6763349).

Referring to claim 8, Woods in view of Talib and further in view of Sacco does not explicitly disclose the limitation: "Wherein the concept set is a list of concepts."

Sacco teaches the limitation: "Wherein the concept set is a list of concepts" (Sacco Column 8, Lines 15-24).

At the time the invention was made, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to add the feature of using sets of concepts to the method of Woods in view of Talib and further in view of Fernley so that, in the resultant method, the concepts set is a list of concepts. One would have been motivated to do so in order to obtain reduced taxonomy, which derived from the original taxonomy by pruning the concepts (Sacco, Column 2 Lines 5-8).

Referring to claim 9, Sacco teaches the limitation:

"wherein concepts in the list of concepts are produced by set operations on multiple lists of concepts" (Column 2 Lines 5-8 and Column 8, Lines 15 through Column 3 Line 32).

Referring to claim 10, Fernley teaches the limitation:

"wherein a gist comprises weighted concepts" (Paragraphs 0100-0104).

Referring to claim 11, Fernley is directed to the limitation:

"wherein the gist is user defined or is a calculated gist of the article" (Paragraphs 0100-0104 and Paragraph 0011). Note that in neural network learning rules, user feedback/input is always present.

Art Unit: 2162

Claims 22-25 are rejected on the same basis as claims 8-11 respectively.

Referring to claim 14, Fernley is directed to the limitation:

“wherein the article is preprocessed to determine concepts contained in the article and a gist for the article” (Paragraphs 0100-0104 and Paragraph 0011).

Claim 28 is rejected on the same basis as claim 14.
